

February 9, 2012 Cover story by Lucas Mearian features Secure Telehealth

COMPUTERWORLD White Papers

Topics News In Depth Reviews

Healthcare IT

Telepsychiatry is taking off

Telemedicine has been around since the 1990s, but psychiatrists say it's increasingly used to treat remote patients as technology and security improves, and prices drop. Read more...

Telemedicine is taking off by David H. Freedman and David H. Freedman, published in Computerworld on 10/1/18. Read more...

BEHAVIORALHEALTHCARE

Read more... Behavioral Healthcare was featured in Behavioral Healthcare

Telemedicine is taking off by David H. Freedman and David H. Freedman, published in Computerworld on 10/1/18. Read more...

Health Management TECHNOLOGY

Telemedicine is taking off by David H. Freedman and David H. Freedman, published in Computerworld on 10/1/18. Read more...

© CarePartners of Georgia, providing additional services to the communities of Georgia.